Dear Parents,

I have continued to love teaching your children. They are so fund and everyday they teach me something new. They are all so sweet and so excited to learn. They have taken this strange couple of months in stride and are doing great.

What We're Learning:

- Math: We are working on addition and subtraction. We are talking about problem parts and continue to work on number models.
- Science: We've started out first unit about how things grow. We learned about plants in Oct. and now are moving onto animals.
- Social Studies: We won't start this again until Dec.

- Reading: We are moving into Unit 2 and will be reading stories that are informational and introducing drama and poetry.
- Writing: We continue to work on our writing and making everything neat. We will begin to write our own stories this month.
- Language: We continue to talk about part of speech. Our spelling has gotten a little harder as we now have 10 words.
