Dear Parents

As we finish the school year I am reminding the kids that they are soon to be second graders. They have made so much progress this year in all areas, I am beyond proud of them. Over the summer continue to read and work on their math facts to help stay ahead when they begin second grade in the fall.

What We're Learning

Math: We just finished talking about shapes and fractions. The rest of the school year will be used to work on Math facts and review.

Social Studies: We have been talking about needs, wants and jobs that people have, especially jobs they have.

Language: The last bit of language we'll be learning are prepositions, prepositional phrases and commas in dates and sentences.

Reading: Our last unit in reading we'll learn about the seasons and how they change what we see, feel and do outside.

Writing: We are continuing to write a how-to book. At the end we'll write about which season each student thinks is best and why.
